

Exhibit 6 : Site photos

River corridor looking upstream to Los Padres National Forest (left panel); and riparian forest east of ranch house (right panel)

The ranch house on site will eventually be converted to an environmental education and interpretive center

A deep pool along the river and adjacent to the Hollingsworth property provides perennial habitat for steelhead